

FY2018 Yokohama National University International Student Center Application Guide for Research Students (Spring Semester)

Those who wish to study subject matter in specific research fields at the International Student Center (hereinafter referred to as “the Center”) of Yokohama National University (hereinafter referred to as “the University”) are selected and admitted as research students, provided that their admission does not impede education and research at the Center.

1. Qualifications for admission

Applicants for admission as research students must have research skills regarding subject matter in specific research fields as well as meet one of the following requirements:

- (1) Have graduated after March 1951, or are scheduled to graduate by the time of admission as research students, from a Japanese university
- (2) Have obtained, or are scheduled to obtain by the time of admission as research students, a bachelor’s degree that fulfills the requirements by Japan’s National Institution for Academic Degrees and University Evaluation
- (3) Have completed, or are scheduled to complete by the time of admission as research students, a 16-year program of school education from elementary school through university in a country or countries other than Japan
- (4) Be recognized by the Center as having academic skills equivalent to the skills of those who meet one of the above requirements

2. Admission period

Research students shall be admitted to the Center in April 2018.

3. Research period

The research period shall be one year or less, until the end of the fiscal year (the end of March 2019). However, if there are special circumstances, it is possible to extend the research period to two years, including the initial research period.

4. Research fields

See the list of “Yokohama National University Academic Research Staff” (affiliation: International Strategy Organization) for research fields available at the Center.

* The application must be delivered to the International Student Center by the deadline.

6. Selection

The applicant will be assessed for admission based on a review of the submitted documents. Interviews and other examinations will be administered, if needed.

The results of selection will be reported to the applicant.

7. Admission

An admission notice and documents will be sent to applicants who are selected. Applicants who receive the notice and documents must complete the admission procedure during the admission period. Please pay the following admission fee and tuition in a lump sum during the admission procedure. Applicants who do not complete the admission procedure during the specified period shall be regarded as having declined admission.

Admission fee: 84,600 yen

Tuition: 178,200 yen (half year); 356,400 yen (one year)

(* The admission fee and the tuition are subject to change.)

8. Handling of personal information

Personal information in documents submitted by the applicant may also be used in surveys and research conducted at Yokohama National University, in addition to the purpose of selecting applicants. When presenting the results of surveys and research, personal information will be handled so that individuals cannot be identified. Personal information will not be used or made available for purposes other than the above.

9. Notes

If the fact of fallacious or illegal declaration was detected during the submission of application documents or at the examination, the admission permission may be cancelled even after the applicant has been enrolled.

10. Other information

- (1) Application documents that have been submitted and admission fees and tuitions that have been paid will not be returned to applicants for any reason.
- (2) Selection results and admission documents will only be sent to addresses in Japan. For applicants living overseas, they will be sent to their families or acquaintances living in Japan.
